Urgent Update: Mark Grenon's Recovery and Temporary Relocation

Dear Friends,

We wanted to provide you with an update on Mark's recovery following his successful surgery. While we're incredibly grateful for the positive outcome, we understand that many of you are eager for more information on his progress since the operation. At this time, we're still awaiting further updates from the medical team regarding his condition post-surgery.

We have another important update to share: Mark will be temporarily relocated to North Carolina. We're awaiting confirmation on the specific facility where he will be transferred, but for the time being, he will be separated from his three sons Joseph, Jonathan and Jordan who are currently in FCI Miami.

Mark is expecting to be transferred to one of this locations:

- Federal Correctional Complex, Butner (Butner, North Carolina)
- Federal Correctional Institution, Butner Low (Butner, North Carolina)
- Federal Correctional Institution, Butner Medium I (Butner, North Carolina)
- Federal Correctional Institution, Butner Medium II (Butner, North Carolina)
- Federal Correctional Institution, Butner Camp (Butner, North Carolina)

Moreover, Mark's release date is pending an update next month. As he still slowly recovers from his open-heart surgery, every day is crucial to his healing process. Your continued support and understanding as we navigate these developments are deeply appreciated.

Once again, we thank you for your unwavering support and understanding during this time. We will continue to keep you updated on Mark's progress as we receive more information from the medical team. Together, we remain hopeful for his complete recovery and a smooth transition back to health..
