IMPORTANT NEWS!

We have some important updates to share regarding Mark and Joseph Grenon. Both Mark and Joseph are set to be released from prison in September. Joseph has already been transferred to a low-security facility where he will wait for his release. Mark will be transferred next week on Thursday. This marks a significant change in their circumstances, bringing them closer to regaining their freedom.

In their new facility, Mark and Joseph will experience improved conditions. They will be permitted to leave the premises under specific conditions and permissions. Additionally, they will have access to phones and clothing, and even the opportunity to secure jobs outside the prison. However, there are still important restrictions in place: they cannot speak with anyone outside the facility nor leave the state until their official release date in September.

While this transition is a positive step, it comes with its own set of challenges and needs. We are reaching out to you, our dedicated community, to request your support during this crucial time. Any assistance you can provide will make a tremendous difference in helping Mark and Joseph adjust to their new circumstances and prepare for their full release.

Your contributions will go towards:

- Basic necessities such as clothing and personal items
- Communication tools to help them stay connected within allowed parameters
- Support for employment opportunities outside the prison
- Legal and administrative costs associated with their transition and release

We understand that times are tough for many, but even the smallest donation can have a significant impact. Together, we can help Mark and Joseph navigate this new phase of their lives with dignity and hope.

Thank you for your continued support and generosity. Every contribution brings us one step closer to ensuring a smooth transition for Mark and Joseph as they prepare for their final release.

Warm regards,
